

Moving Melton Transport Prospectus

The City of Melton is Australia's fastest growing municipality, but our transport infrastructure is not keeping up with residential and employment growth.

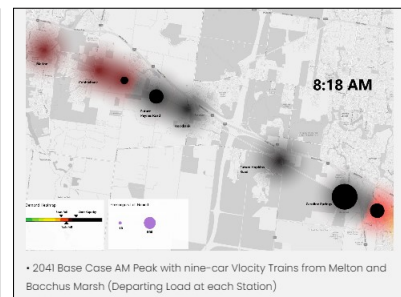

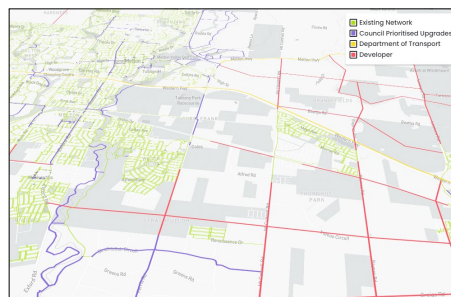

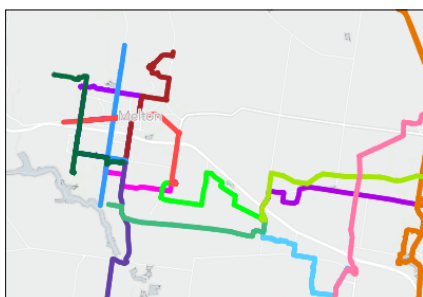

The Moving Melton Transport Prospectus is an interactive website with compelling evidence for the road, rail, bus and active transport projects urgently needed www.movingmelton.com.au.

The website and its components were created by Melton City Council staff; this includes an interactive project map, population and travel data, traffic modelling, a reconfigured bus network, 3D renders, project designs, and all combined with independent economic modelling.

Renders of the upgraded Western Highway and overall project design

We've taken the work we are doing internally to ministers, members of parliament, planners, government departments, academics, decision makers and to the community.

Updated bus and active transport networks and modelling showing the Melton rail line at crush capacity

The prospectus has helped council put forward its investment agenda in an innovative way. The digital format has enabled us to add new projects, respond to announcements and we've already seen a number of announcements that may be attributed to the success of the platform.
